EDITOR'S LETTER

As many of you know the University of Miami has the Cuban Collection as part of the Department of Archives and Special Collections. This Cuba collection of documents and books, etc. is the largest in the United States and is housed at the University's Library.

The Department's sub-director, Esperanza de Varona, announced thursday the birth of a new organization to promote and give support to the preservation of the Cuban culture. The society AMIGOS had 19 members in its board of directors, including Elena Díaz-Versón as vice-president.

The immediate project at hand of the organization is to raise funds to build a separate room for the collection's many materials which are dispersed through out the department's other collections and a reading room where the patrons could have access to the material when they visit the Library.

The society will publish a bulletin and will organize seminars, concerts and other activities for this purpose.

The membership is open to all those persons who have a love for the Cuban culture and are interested in contributing to its preservation for the benefit of future generations.

To get more information about AMIGOS, please write to AMIGOS of the University of Miami Library Cuban Collection, Ritcher Library, P O BOX 248214, Coral Gables, Florida 33124. Telephone: (305) 284-3551.

VARONA

This work was submitted to the
ACADEMIA CUBANA DE CIENCIAS GENEALOGICAS
by Hector Recio y de la Torre.

Translated by Jorge Flores

Without any doubt, one of the most illustrious families in Cuba was de VARONA family, whose founder was the Captain Francisco de Varona y Saravia, Lieutenant General and Auditor of War. Unfortunately, even after many efforts, we have not been able to find his ancestors or any other documentation before his death.

He was married in the Villa of Santa María del Puerto del Príncipe (today the city of Camagüey) to Isabel Vásquez Valdés de Coronado y Miranda. She was the daughter of Captain Pedro Valdés de Coronado y Duque de Estrada, the Lieutenant Governor, and Mayor of the Villa de San Salvador de Bayamo, and Mariana de Miranda y Martín de Frutos.

From this marriage they had only one child, María de Varona y Vásquez Valdés de Coronado (La Alemán) who married Captain Esteban de Miranda Argüelles y Manuel de Figueroa, from the Villa of San Salvador de Bayamo and mayor of Santa María del Príncipe. He was also the Mayor of Santa María del Puerto del Príncipe. He was the grandson of the illustrious Conqueror and founder, Captain Vasco Porcayo de Figueroa. María left her last will and testament on July 3, 1666, in Santa María del Puerto del Príncipe, but unfortunately she did not mention any paternal ancestry.

Her two children, María and Francisco selected to use their mothers' surname in order to perpetuate the VARONA surname.

Reviewing some genealogical records from Cuban history, we found that this family continued its the noble quality by marrying other noble families from Puerto Príncipe. For centuries they held the highest positions in Government, such as Mayor, and Alderman. In the military, they held the ranks of Colonels of the Army and Militia. Others held ranks in the Marine of War and a few held the Holy Office of the Inquisition.

At the beginning of the Cuban independence movement, and later during the war that ended in the liberation of the island, the Varonas were the first to unite the efforts for the cause of freedom, sacrificing land and even their lives for the Independence of Cuba. If we study a list of all of the freedom fighters that died in the Ten Years War compiled by Jorge Juárez Cano in his book Apuntes de Camagüey, page 172, we will notice the names of 23 members of these families that were victims of decease, hunger, assassinations, etc. between the years of 1868 and 1878 only. If we consider long family history, and heroism and sacrifice as a mark of nobility, the Varonas' certainly meet that mark.

One of the heroes of this family, was General Bernabé de Varona y Borrero, known also by the nick name of "Bembeta". He organized the expedition of the "Virginus" that later was captured and taken to Santiago de Cuba. He was executed in front of a firing squad on November 4, 1873.

As the most prominent member of this family we had among us, until his death in 1933, a survivor of old revolutionary movement, the mentor of the 1930's generation, the patriot, poet and writer, Enrique José de Varona y de la Pera.

Curious to know if the Spanish branch of the Varona family had as many illustrious members as the Cuban branch enjoyed, we made contact with Rodrigo de Varona y Guinea, XXVI Lord and present possessor of the Manor and Tower of Varona in Villanañe, Province of Alava, Spain. Taking advantage of a trip taken around the Americas by close relative of his, priest Vidal Fernández de Palomas, he provided us with copies of genealogical trees that were taken from the oldest archives that were maintained at his palace. He also provided a copy of the work by Eleuterio de la Inmaculada, a priest, entitled Historia del Santuario de Nuestra Señora de Agosto y del Valle de Godea de la Muy Noble y Muy Leal Provincia de Alava.

This book, in it's entirety was based on information taken directly from the Varona Archive of Villanañe, explains in great detail the origin of this lineage, including all its participation in the history of Spain from approximately the year 680 of the Christian Age.

We will present the family trees as they were found in the house of his ancestors:

1. Great Admiral Ruy Pérez, born in Helvecia who arrived at Santaña in 680. He was born in 642. He was the father of:
2. Ruy Pérez, born in 664; who was the father of:
3. Estrabón Pérez, born in 686. He died in the battle of Guadalete on November 11 of 711. He was the father of:
4. Rodrigo Pérez who died in 788; the father of:
5. Ruy Pérez, named "El defensor" (The defender), who died in 810; and was the father of:
6. Pelayo Pérez, born around 731. Married to Paula de Cárcamo, daughter of "Cuchillo de Moros y Judíos" (knife of Moors and Jews). Pelayo died in 830; he was the father of:
7. Martín Pérez, founder of Cárcamo and the father of:
8. Rodrigo o Sancho Pérez, born around 839; the father of:
9. Sancho Pérez. Died at the age of 87 in 970, so probably was born around 893. His son lived to be 70 years old.
10. Gómez Pérez, died in 1040. Married to Elvira González, blood related niece of Count Fernán Gonzalez. They were the parents of:
11. María Pérez "La Varona", who is believed to have been born between 1028-1031, sister of Fernán, Gómez, Alvar, Gonzalo and Ana. She married Infante Vela, son out of wedlock, of the King Ramiro I of Aragon.

(If we were to continue the ancestry of the VARONA, by the maternal ancestral branch of "La Varona", Elvira Gonzalez, niece of Count Fernán González, we would find two illustrious ancestral branches).

María Pérez, "La Varona", and the Infante Vela, were the parents of:

12. Rodrigo Varona, I Lord of the House of Varona in Villanañe, married in 1100 to María Munguía. (this Rodrigo, is the twenty third grandfather, and twentieth of the previous mentioned Lord of Villanañe, Rodrigo de Varona y Guinea). They were the parents of:

13. Rodrigo de Varona, II Lord of the House of Varona in Villanañe, who was the founder of Arroyo in Valdivieso. He was married to Emilia o Elvira de Velasco, and they were the founders of the House of Varona, and first Lords in Arroyo.

From information extracted from the family trees it was found that the Varonas of Villanañe and the Varona of Arroyo maintained strong ties by successive marriages. Both branches were distinguished for the determination and courage their men applied in their jobs next to the Kings, specially in the military, and were married with the most notorious noble houses in Spain.

Genealogical information was found to prove the link of Francisco de Varona y Saravia, founder of this lineage to Cuba. In the XVI century, there were in existence various nobleman with the same name and surname with similar quality, whose fundamental circumstances we analyze here:

Francisco de Varona y Saravia, the grandson of the I Lord of Villanañe. It is not known whether or not he had any descendance. It is known that one of his sisters, Magdalena, was married to her cousin Rodrigo de Varona, XII Lord of the House of Villanañe, having as offsprings:

- 1. Gonzalo de Varona y de Varona, Captain of the Tercios of Naples.
- 2. Miguel de Varona y de Varona, Caballero de Alcántara y Grand Master of the Army of Lombardy.

3. Juan de Varona y de Varona, Regent in Italy, Chancellor in Milán and knight of the Order of Santiago.

Francisco de Varona y Saravia, the son of Francisco de Varona XIII Lord of the House of Arroyo, Inspector of the Royal Army. He earned the title of noble in Granada and his testament was found in Seville, dated August 29, 1591, given before Melchor Fernández, and Urbana de Saravia de Rueda. He had two brothers; Juan Varona de Saravia, XVI Lord of the House of Arroyo, and Gabriel de Varona y Saravia.

Francisco de Varona y Saravia, son of XIII Lord of the House of Arroyo, as per information furnished by the eminent genealogist Juan de Rújula y Vaca, "A single man that came from the mountains, went by Seville, and from there embarked to the Indies in 1568, residing in the Island of Santo Domingo where he married Inés de Anaya, from Salamanca, having a son Agustín, born in Santo Domingo. Agustín married Francisca Zurbano and they had one son, Pedro who also had one son, Nicolás.

Francisco de Varona y Saravia. The Count of Jaruco, in his work Historias de Familias Cubanas, mentions "Captain Francisco de Varona y Saravia, born in Spain, went to Cuba, and became Lieutenant General, and Auditor of War. He died defending the Villa of Puerto Principe".

There are different circumstances that make us believe that the Captain Francisco de Varona y Saravia that travelled to the Indies in 1568, residing in Santo Domingo, was in fact the same person that started the VARONA lineage in Cuba.

1st. If there is documentation that proves that Inés de Anaya married Captain Varona, and that his son and grandson of Agustín were born in Santo Domingo, then how come, the proof of the death of Captain Francisco de Varona y Saravia was not found in Santo Domingo?

2nd. There are coincidences of name, surnames and dates.

3rd. There are coincidences of category and quality of person.

4th. There is chronological proximity with the time in which a majority of families relocating to the Indies were living previously in Santo Domingo.

All the above are facts that make us believe that Captain Francisco de Varona y Saravia, when he became a widower in Santo Domingo, occupied high ranking positions on the Island of Cuba and also remarried there.

We will treat now María Pérez, the originator of the Varona surname.

The distinguished Francisco Bernardo de Varona, knight of the Order of Santiago, Artillery General, wrote a memorial to King Carlos II, in 1686, presenting all the merits of his ancestors in relation with his origin. Such memorial reads as follows:

"The origin of the VARONA surname, was due to Maria Pérez, orphan, single, maid, and beautiful with two brothers; Alvar and Gómez, both noblemen and expert captains at the militia, who were called by King Alfonso VI of Castille to serve in the war that he had established against his step-father King Alonso of Aragon. Having the responsibility to care for their sister, they argued as to what to do to keep her in a safe and honorable state. She was very determined and decided that for her, the most acceptable and honorable way was to accompany her brothers, dressing in the same manner as them, so that she also would go to war.

"Her brothers relented and took her with them, all dressed up in combat gear and riding her horse like her brothers and the rest of the army. When the war began between the Aragonese and Castilians, a great confusion arose in the battle as both armies were engaged in a very bloody campaign. She was separated from her brothers, and during the night they were not able to find each other. María, in her wanderings, came to see herself face to face with Alonso de Aragon who was also separated from his army. A very close fight developed.

María, even thought she had broken her sword, yet was able to subdue the King, making him her prisoner. She brought him to King Alonso of Castille, where he was encamped in his military quarters. He received her with veneration for her great courage and valor. The King told her: "You have not performed as a weak woman, but as a brave man, for which you will have the honor to be called VARONA and all your descendants will bear that name in memory of such great heroism. You will bear the arms of Aragon, which are four bloody bars with a gold background".

These arms have been used in the shields from such remote times by all knights descending from the Varona lineage. The place where the battle took place was near the Paredes de Atienza, and it was known from then on as the field of Varona, in memory of this event."

Another reference to María Pérez, "La Varona", is from Carlos José de Varona y Saravia dated 1715. The author while on a vacation trip to Villanueva, wrote a very extensive manuscript named Memorias de la Infanzona Torre y Casa Fuerte de Villanueva, Solar de Varona. It begins treating the progenitors of the Varonas:

"In some nobility books and memorials that have the lineage of Varona descending from the Infante Don Vela, Count and Lord of Ayala and María Pérez, his wife, named La Varona by King Alonso VI who conquered Toledo, they do not show the ancestry of Don Vela of his wife, mentioning only that she was related to Count Fernán González de Castilla.

"But, having researched the archives of the House of Villanueva, made available to me by Rodrigo Melchor Varona, quoting some authentic documents that were found and other papers, here is what they say:

"In first place, the old memorials mention María Pérez del Val de Gobeia named "La Varona" descended from Andeca, Count of Cantabria, who died in 714 in the battle of Guadalete".

When it mentions "La Varona" it says: "Maria's parents died, and her two brother became her legal guardians at a very young age. Beauty, valor and wealth were attributes of the Lady of Villanueva, who inherited Bachicabo, Espejo, Villanueva, Gurendes, Quejo, Valluerca, Quintanilla and Osma, where she was patroness of the with all the rights of the manors and had jurisdiction over which included the entire Valley, together with her brothers and relatives, at the Villarcayo and Villacanes, Siguenza and Quintanilla de Siguenza. She also had the inheritance in the high mountains of Burgos, part of Cantabria, as a descendant of the previous Lords; she was also Lady of Cárcamo, and inherited Lacoymonte from her mother". Also in this memorial it is mentioned that María, with great effort fought with the moors and was the "La Varona", that captured King Pedro of Aragon, in the year 1119".

Carlos Varona Saravia also mentions the same story as Francisco Bernardo Varona, the battle of Atienza. In the following page it is mentioned that the victory of Dueñas that was obtained by this brave woman with her army, in that campaign against the moors, caused the King to name her "mirror of valiant knights". This new noble title, is the reason for the shield to have eight round reflections with a golden background.

Parish Register of the Parishes of Habana, Matanzas, and Pinar del Río, Cuba

Births, Marriages, and Death.
1684 to 1899

The transcriptions from the different Parishes of Habana, Matanzas and Pinar del Río, are of selected families that were being studied at the time by Francisco Xavier de Santa Cruz and his associates. The extractions cover the years 1684 to 1899.

The list was kept in the original order to keep the parishes together. The source number can help you determine the church the entry belongs to as follows: 060201 = Cathedral; 060202 = Guanabacoa; 060203 = Marianao; 060204 = Calvario; 060205 = Guadalupe; 060206 = Jesús del Monte; 060207 Monserrate; 060208 = Santo Angel; 060209 = Santo Cristo; 060211 = Espíritu Santo; 060212 = Bejucal; 060215 = Cano; 060216 = El Cerro; 060217 = Pilar; 060220 = Guira de Melena; 060221 = La Salud; 060222 = Sta. María del Rosario; 060223 = Puentes Grandes; 060602 = Mariel; -6-6-3 = Artemisa.

The information contained in the following listing has the same format as previously used. To recap: The surname and given name are found first, followed by the sex of the individual, the date of the marriage, a letter indicating whether the individual listed is the one being married (M), or is associated genealogically (G); this G follows the names of parents or other spouses and witnesses, if any. The numbers at the very end refer to the page and entry number of the original transcription. These are helpful in looking at the individuals identified in a given entry and may also be used for further reference in corresponding with CGS to get a printout of the entry as it appears in the original transcription.
